

GlobalG.A.P. Certification

Private protocol for primary sector producers

In response to consumers' growing awareness of product safety, the environment, and workers' safety and welfare, European retailers have developed different certification schemes in order to harmonize the evaluation of primary sector products

What is GlobalG.A.P.?

They are protocols that have become the market's benchmarks in the field of Good Agricultural Practice (GAP). GlobalG.A.P. certification covers all the production activities on a farm, until the product is marketed or sold.

Certification according to these schemes helps give the producer comprehensive control over his product, improves the production processes and the product quality, and is required by the retailers.

Benefits of GlobalG.A.P.

- Achieve a certification recognized by the various agents involved in marketing
- Production value added
- Helps gain access to national and international markets
- Allows the final consumer to trust your products
- Improves the farm's management and yield
